

Western N.C. Conference United Methodist Church

“Safe Sanctuaries” Camp and Event Protection Policy for Children and Youth

Introduction:

The General Conference of The United Methodist Church, in April 1996, and the Western N.C. Annual Conference, in June 2004, adopted a resolution aimed at reducing the risk of abuse of children and youth in the church. This includes sexual, emotional, physical, and ritual abuse, and neglect. The safety and well being of all our Western N.C. Conference participants is an essential part of being a good steward of the ministry with which we have been entrusted. The Western N.C. Conference agencies that work with children and youth at camps and events have formulated a policy that serves as a guideline for children, youth, and the adults who work with them to operate in optimum safety. Thus, in covenant with The United Methodist Church, we adopt this policy for the prevention of abuse of children, middle high and senior high youth in our Western N.C. Conference camps and events.

Jesus said, “Whoever welcomes [a] child...welcomes me.” (Matthew 18:5). Children are our present and our future, our hope, our teachers, our inspiration. They are full participants in the life of the church and in the realm of God.

Jesus also said, “If any of you put a stumbling block before one of these little ones..., it would be better for you if a great millstone were fastened around your neck and you were drowned in the depth of the sea.” (Matthew 18:6). Our Christian faith calls us to offer both hospitality and protection to the little ones, the children. The Social Principles of The United Methodist Church state that “...children must be protected from economic, physical and sexual exploitation, and abuse.”

Tragically, churches have not always been safe places for children. Child sexual abuse, exploitation and ritual abuse (ritual abuse refers to abusive acts committed as part of ceremonies or rites; ritual abusers are often related to cults, or pretend to be) occur in churches, both large and small, urban and rural. The problem cuts across all economic, cultural and racial lines. It is real, and it appears to be increasing. Most annual conferences can cite specific incidents of child sexual abuse and exploitation in their churches. Virtually every congregation has among its members adult survivors of early sexual trauma. Such incidents are devastating to all who are involved: the child, the family, the local church and its leaders. Increasingly, churches are torn apart by the legal, emotional, and monetary consequences of litigation following allegations of abuse.

God calls us to make our churches safe places, protecting children and other vulnerable persons from sexual and ritual abuse. God calls us to create communities of faith where children and adults grow safe and strong.

*(From The Book of Resolutions of The United Methodist Church-2000; pages 180-81.
Copyright © 2000 by The United Methodist Publishing House. Used by permission.)*

Purpose:

The Western N.C. Conference Council on Ministries with Young People’s purpose for establishing this Children and Youth Camp and Event Prevention Policy, and accompanying procedures is to demonstrate our absolute and unwavering commitment to the physical safety and spiritual growth of all of our children and youth.

Statement of Covenant:

Therefore, as a Christian community of faith and United Methodist program agencies for the children and youth of the Western N.C. Conference, we pledge to conduct the ministry of the gospel in ways that assure the safety and spiritual growth of all of our children and youth, as well as all of the workers with children and youth. We will follow reasonable safety measures in the selection and recruitment of workers; we will implement prudent operational procedures in all programs and events; we will educate all of our youth event workers regarding the use of all appropriate policies and methods; we will have a clearly defined procedure for reporting a suspected incident of abuse that conforms to the requirements of state law; and we will be prepared to respond to media inquiries if an incident occurs. Each local church is to establish and supplement its own “Safe Sanctuaries” policy and procedures by December 3, 2005. The Conference office has and will continue to provide training in the districts to help local churches establish and implement “Safe Sanctuaries” policy and procedures.

Conclusion :

In all of our ministries with children and youth, this congregation is committed to demonstrating the love of Jesus Christ so that each child and youth will be “...surrounded by steadfast love, ...established in the faith, and confirmed and strengthened in the way that leads to life eternal” (From “Congregational Pledge 2,” “Baptismal Covenant II,” in The United Methodist Hymnal, p. 44).

Endorsed by: The WNCC Office of Ministries with Young People and the Conference Council on Youth Ministries
The WNCC Office of Christian Education and the Conference Children’s Council
Camp Tekoa Board of Directors
The WNCC Bishop and Cabinet

Adapted 2004 from Youth Abuse Prevention Policy, Safe Sanctuaries for Youth: Reducing the Risk of Abuse in Youth Ministries by Joy Thornburg Melton, Discipleship Resources 2003.